ABOUT THE COMPANY

Kingston Wharves Ltd. (KW) is a publicly listed company on the Jamaica Stock Exchange that operates from Newport West, Third Street, Kingston Jamaica. It is recognized in the Caribbean as one of the top multi-purpose port terminal operators in the region and offers cargo handling and logistics services which include: equipment rental, mooring and unmooring of vessels, storage and warehousing and stripping and stuffing containers.

The company has garnered several awards over the years, most notably the "Multi-purpose Terminal of the Year" Award for 2006, 2007, 2009 and 2013 by the Caribbean Shipping Association (CSA). KW has over a decade of steady performance and has expanded its operations to become a major player in the logistics industry. The company envisions establishing Jamaica as a major hub, taking advantage of its location to facilitate increased traffic flow through the Panama Canal. It is anticipated that if this occurs, the increased traffic coming through Jamaica's ports would be economically beneficial, not only for our biggest multi-purpose port operator but for the overall Jamaican economy.

Outlook

We see KW having growth potential in the medium to long-term as the global shipping industry emerges from the impact of Covid-19. We expect recent investments to contribute positively to the company's operating efficiency. Moreover, KW's revenue should improve through synergies between its terminal operations and its logistics services. The transshipment and storage of automobiles, bulk and breakbulk cargo looks to have further growth potential for the company as well. Additionally, the company's capital base and liquidity remain strong, positioning the company for resilience throughout the crisis.

Projections and Valuations

We assumed that revenues and shareholder's equity would grow to $9.5 Billion and $30.2 Billion for the FY 2021 resulting in an EPS and BVPS of $1.98 and $21.15, respectively. We used a discounted cash flow model with a cost of equity of 14.94% to arrive at a price target of $41.43.

Risks to Price Target

If the KW experiences challenges with its IT framework that adversely impacts its ability to operate efficiently and grow its bottom line, or if Jamaica is not able to attain logistics hub status given competition from other regional players, the company may not perform as anticipated and the price target may not be attained. Also, if the current pandemic persists for more than a year then our projection may have to be revisited.

Kingston Wharves Ltd. earns revenues from the following services: storage and warehousing, mooring and unmooring of vessels, storage and warehousing stripping and stuffing containers. Revenues have grown by a CAGR of 15.6% between 2014 and 2019. This came mainly from terminal operations which accounts for more than 70% of revenue annually. Revenue from terminal operations grew by 74% over the five-year period which is attributable to the significant growth in KW's motor vehicle business, as well as higher than anticipated volume in break bulk services. On the other hand, direct costs grew at a slower pace than revenues over the period, at a CAGR of 12.4% between 2014 and 2019. This led to gross profit growing at a faster pace than revenue, achieving a CAGR of 19.4%. This resulted in an improvement in the company's gross profit margin by over 5 percentage points over the review period (46.0% in 2014 to 51.2% in 2019). Operating profits grew at an even faster pace, with a CAGR of 22.1%, due primarily to an only 8.6% average annual increase in administrative expenses over the last five year. KW's Net Income grew by 33.4% between 2018 and 2019, 8.0% higher than five-year CAGR of 25.4%.

Total Assets grew by a CAGR of 9.2% over the 5-year period, mainly due to increases in property, plant and equipment, retirement benefit assets and short-term investments. This primarily reflects investments geared towards the pursuit of readiness to facilitate the operation of a regional logistics hub. There was also an increased emphasis on technology in improving overall efficiency in the delivery of service to its customers. Increases in borrowings, deferred tax liabilities, retirement obligations and trade and other payables contributed to total liabilities to growing by a CAGR of 7.9%.

The company has strengthened its financial position over the review period, with their current ratio improving to 3.44x in 2019 from 2.68x in 2015. Additionally, the quick ratio increased to 3.24X in 2019 from 2.53x in 2015. The cash ratio improved to 0.33X in 2019 from 0.25x in 2015 due to growth in the company's short term investments owing to an increase in the weighted average interest rates on KW's short term deposits from 1.74% to 2.98% over the period. These ratios imply the company's liquidity is strong and indicates KW is more than able to meet their short-term obligations through liquid assets. From a solvency perspective, KW's debt to equity ratio fell to 8.55% in 2019 from a high of 13.01x in 2016. This improvement in solvency shows KW's low leverage and its ability to meet its long-term obligations. The excess liquidity when coupled with the low debt, positions the company well for the execution of attractive expansion or acquisition opportunities identified by management.

FOR THE 3 MONTHS ENDED MARCH 31, 2020

The Group recorded consolidated revenues of $1.88 billion for quarter ended March 31, 2020, a 2.4% increase over the corresponding period in the prior year. However, direct costs grew at a faster pace of 4.72%, resulting in a less than $1 million increase in gross profit to $932.27 million and a gross profit margin of 49.7%, down 1.1% from the comparable quarter last year.

Although administrative expenses increased by 14.22% to $337.33 million, a surge in other operating income to $140.35 million led to a 20.1% year-over-year (YoY) increase in operating profit to $735.29 million.

Finance costs decreased to $40.2 million, a 15.6% reduction as interest rates remain around historic lows. This contributed to a YoY increase in pre-tax profits of 23.1% to $695.1 million. After taxes, KW recorded a 22.5% increase in net profits to $561.9 million, representing a profit margin of 30.0%, 5.0% more than the comparable quarter last year. Net profit attributable to equity holders of the company represents 98.7% of net-income and grew by 22.3% to $553.7 million.

The Terminal Operations division generated operating revenue of $1.51 billion for the three-month period, an increase of 4.0% over the corresponding period of the prior year. Divisional profits increased by 26% from $473.77 million to $594.86 million YoY. Management states that the quarter's positive start is a direct result of strategic investments in key areas of the terminal facilities and operations, which continue to positively impact their efficiency and profitability.

The Logistics Services division continues to experience strong and steady growth, up 6% YoY, generating revenues of $509.22 million. The main drivers in this business segment continue to be automotive logistics, warehousing, distribution, and freight-handling services targeting commercial, industrial and personal-effects clients. Management credits KW's growth strategy of product diversification, timely capital investments in modern warehousing and cargo storage infrastructure, technology, and human resource development, to the success of the division. The division generated operating profits of $140.43 million, a marginal 1.6% increase over the prior year.

KW's asset base was effectively flat, ending quarter at $32.4 billion. Growth in cash and cash equivalents was offset by a decline in property, plant and equipment. Total liabilities declined by 26.9% to $5.2 billion from $7.1 billion driven by 23.1% and 41% reductions in borrowings and trade and other payables, respectively. Additionally a 20.8% increase in retained earnings drove a 7.8% increase in shareholders' equity to $27.1 billion.

Due to the strengthening of the KW's financial position, their current, quick and cash ratio improved to 4.75x, 4.46x and 0.43x as at March 31, 2020 from 3.11x, 2.93x and 0.16x the comparable period prior. These liquidity metrics demonstrate KW's ability to meet their short-term obligations based on the assets they have on hand. From a solvency perspective, KW's debt to equity ratio improved to 7.9% declining by 2.60% from the quarter ended March 31, 2019.

OUTLOOK

Kingston Wharves remains optimistic about the performance of the company's core business lines amidst the negative impact from COVID-19

To mitigate the spread of the pandemic, the GOJ implemented nightly island wide curfews, schools and businesses temporary closures, suspension or cancellation of entertainment events, and international travel restrictions. These all have negative economic consequences, one of which is the reduction of shipping and logistic services. As a provider of terminal and logistics services for the domestic and transshipment market, the group's operations are at varying stages of the impact cycle. However, operations have remained resilient and the liquidity and capital base of the company remain strong, which will allow KW to come out on the other side of the crisis on strong footing.

The company's business strategy is in line with Jamaica's Logistics Hub Initiative which looks to transform the Country's Economy

As the Caribbean's leading multi-purpose port terminal, Kingston Wharves runs a diverse operation, handling a wide range of cargo for both the domestic and transshipment markets. With hopes of operating a major logistic hub from Jamaica, KW sought long-term strategic relationships with the major importers and exporters, shipping lines, and Non-Vessel Operating Common Carriers (NVOCCs) which are prepared to consider Kingston as a place from which to develop their regional and/or international business. KW has also expanded their transshipment services which involves building out its Total Logistics Facility (TLF) includes the Total Auto Logistics Centre which offers automotive shipping and storage services for new and used car dealers in Jamaica.

Initiatives geared towards increased efficiency could improve operating margins.

KW has supported their Business continuity strategy with the rollout of new technology to facilitate digital transactions by customers while allowing staff to work remotely or on flexi-time. The company's goal is to co-operate with the Jamaica Customs Agency and other industry stakeholders to further develop technological capabilities in operating within this new norm. These adjustments seek to improve operational efficiency, enhance margins and bolster earnings.

Further cost containment initiatives such as the consolidation in shipping lines could also lead to a larger bottom-line for the company especially as the e-commerce market continues to grow. The automation and modernization of information systems have prompted KW to re-imagine operations for enhanced growth, and in so doing, maintain its position as a market leading multipurpose port and logistics service provider.

Strong capital base and liquid reserves positions can facilitate acquisition opportunities

KW's parent company Jamaica Producers Group (JP) is looking to acquisitions as part of their growth strategy, capitalizing on opportunities that may present themselves in the current business environment. Given the significant contribution KW makes to JP's overall liquid reserves, it is possible that KW may be used as a vehicle for strategic acquisition opportunities.

INVESTMENT POSITIVES

- The company's position in the local market is enhanced by legislations promoting growth in logistics.
- The company was granted free zone status under the Jamaica Export Free Zones Act which resulted in a lower effective tax rate and improved bottom-line.
- The company has a strong distribution network.
- The company has a low debt balance which puts them in a better position to acquire additional debt to execute on acquisition and expansion initiatives.
- The company has paid out 29% of earnings over the last five years as dividend payments.

INVESTMENT NEGATIVES

- Exists in a highly competitive industry globally with a low barrier to entry for some of the company's business lines.
- The company may exhibit concentration risks as all of its operations are based in Jamaica.
- The company's revenue is cyclical and is sensitive to downturns in the broader economy
- Competition from other Caribbean ports could pose a challenge for the company's growth.

CONCLUSION

The global logistics market is projected to increase by 18% in 2021 driven by increased focus on the continued supply of essential commodities, creation of supply chain stabilization task force to fight COVID-19, and growing demand and distribution of personal protective equipment. The social distancing adjustments, extended curfew hours and lockdown in some segments of the economy are some of the factors that should may KW's growth in the short to medium-term. However, as the country adjust to the new norms, operations should return closer to a pre COVID-19 state, should a reliable method of prevention or remedy for the virus emerge.

The company maintains a strong liquidity position and has a low debt which positions the company well to execute on any potential acquisition and expansion opportunities. Given the factors above and our assessment of the valuation of the company at $41.43 relative to the offer price of $56.08, we recommend KW as UNDERWEIGHT.
